Call for applications for the Deutschlandstipendium for the year 2022/23

Kiel University is awarding scholarships in accordance with the German act on the creation of a national scholarship programme or German scholarship programme act (Gesetz zur Schaffung eines nationalen Stipendienprogramms – StipG) for the academic year 2022/2023.

The scholarship is designed for students at all stages of study. Scholarships of €300 per month are awarded for a period limited to two semesters. Applications are received from individuals who meet the admission requirements for their degree programme and are either about to start their course or are already registered at Kiel University. Doctoral degree students are excluded from funding by the Deutschlandstipendium.

More information can be found at https://www.deutschlandstipendium.uni-kiel.de/en.

The application form is to be filled out electronically on the form prescribed by the university. A complete application includes:

- a completed online questionnaire on participation in the Deutschlandstipendium award process. The questionnaire is available at https://www.deutschlandstipendium.uni-kiel.de/en during the application period.
- general certificate of qualification for admission to higher education (HZB - Allgemeine Hochschulzugangsberechtigung), a relevant HZB specific to the subject of study, or a foreign HZB whose equivalence has been recognised by the relevant office. If the application documents are not in German or English, please provide a German translation.
- if necessary, proof of
  - caring of at least for a biological child under 14 (copy of the child's birth certificate),
  - particular achievements, awards, prizes (e.g. “Jugend forscht”) from the last two years,
  - voluntary work experience or voluntary services lasting at least 2 months (e.g. FSJ / FSÖ / FKJ, voluntary social, ecological or cultural year) within the last 2 years,
  - current extracurricular activities or activities in other fields, such as voluntary work in society, university politics, general politics or religion, or in associations or clubs and also voluntary work experience or voluntary services lasting at least 2 months (e.g. FSJ / FSÖ / FKJ, voluntary social, ecological or cultural year) of at least 2 month duration within the last two years,
  - particular personal or family circumstances like illnesses and disabilities or the long-term care for close relatives in need of nursing care (parents, siblings, children, civil partners pursuant to the Civil Partnerships Act)
- Software-Challenge participants who have applied to study computer science or business information technology must also submit the Software-Challenge scholarship certificate.

The German act on the creation of a national scholarship programme or German scholarship programme act (Gesetz zur Schaffung eines nationalen Stipendienprogramm / Stipendienprogramm-Gesetz – StipG), the German directive on the execution of the German scholarship programme act or scholarship programme directive (Verordnung zur Durchführung des Stipendienprogramm-Gesetzes / Stipendienprogramm- Verordnung – StipV) and the University Board’s guidelines on awarding the Deutschlandstipendium (Richtlinien des Präsidiums zur Vergabe der Deutschlandstipendien) apply.

Applications are to be submitted via the application portal at https://www.deutschlandstipendium.uni-kiel.de/en in the period from 1 to 30 June 2022.
